

Creating a Diverse Workforce Through Recruitment

Evaluate your organization's recruitment methods. Check with your recruitment sources (i.e., job boards) to understand their methods of reaching a diverse pool of candidates. In addition to placing job openings on your organization's website, consider placing them on job boards (some charge a fee) targeting diverse communities, such as:

- AccessibleEmployment -- connecting employers with disabled candidates.
  - African Jobs in Texas | Juju Job Search
  - AsianLife.com
  - AsiaMedia Jobs
  - Career Exposure Network
  - Austin Jobs on Cbaanetwork.com - Diversity, African American employment, jobs, careers
  - www.diversityjobs.com
  - www.diversity.monster.com
  - Diversity Recruitment Solution
  - Diversity in the Workplace WWW Resources
  - www.diversityworking.com
  - Hire a Veteran Now!
  - www.hirediversity.com
  - www.imdiversity.com
  - www.inclusioncafe.com
  - Indian Country Today
  - Job Accommodation Network
  - Latinos For Hire
  - National Black MBA Assn - Career
  - USAJOBS - The Federal Government's Official Jobs Site
  - Women For Hire
  - Workforce50.com - dedicated to employment past 50
  - www.workplacediversity.com
- To increase visibility and include non-minority candidates, you could cross-reference these job postings for free with an across-the-web job search engine, such as:
- www.hound.com
  - www.indeed.com
  - www.job-search-engine.com
  - www.jobvolume.com
  - www.simplyhired.com